ERUPTIK IS ON A MISSION TO TURN TODAY'S IT WORLD UPSIDE DOWN.

Together with our partners, we want to create a new world where:

- clients aren't trapped in a world of massive requirement specifications, never-ending change requests and missed deadlines
- trying something new is no longer considered risky – instead it liberates customers to explore new ideas that lead to better solutions
- being amazed at what can be accomplished with limited time and money becomes the new "status quo"

THEN YOU NEED TO TALK TO US!

Because together we can deliver the impossible!

At Eruptik, we have pioneered a new development model for Information Management Systems that will revolutionize the way systems are built and delivered.

We're looking for like-minded professionals to partner with us and deliver management systems that not only meet the evolving needs of their clients, but do it in a lot less time, for a fraction of the cost and a lot less stress.

ERUPTIK AND ITS PARTNERS SHARE A VISION / CLIENTS REAP REWARDS

In just a short time, Eruptik has delivered dozens of systems that many believed couldn't be built without significant investment in software licenses, hardware and custom development costs.

Sound too good to be true?

Okay, so don't listen to us – just flip the page and read a few examples of how Eruptik broke all the rules, delivered the impossible and wowed both partners and clients in the process.

ARE YOU TIRED OF:

Having to bid overly priced "standard" software solutions to clients because "that's all there is"

Hosting workshops and endless meetings with clients trying to nail down requirements (and you never really get them 100% right)

Telling customers that what they want just isn't possible?

PARC SYSTEMS BRINGS THE COLLEGE OF TEACHERS INTO THE 21ST CENTURY WITH ERUPTIK

After 2 years of feasibility studies and requirements gathering, the College of Teachers was ready to bring their image management system into the 21st century. Working with PARC Systems, the college investigated a number of competing products to store and manage their 15 million images, but the 6 digit licensing costs were prohibitive. They agreed that a custom build, where costs could be contained, was the only viable solution for them.

Phil Arctander of PARC Systems embarked on a course of building the application using open source software tools, but quickly abandoned that development when he discovered Eruptik.

"The Eruptik solution was a perfect fit for the college's new image management system. It reduced our workload by half and also our time to market. And compared to other alternatives we considered, Eruptik delivered a fully compliant system for 1/5 of the cost.

With Eruptik, systems are developed so quickly, that the client often becomes the bottleneck in the process – an interesting turn of events in an IT project."

ACCOUNTING COMES ALIVE'S GLOBAL VISION

Accounting Comes Alive (ACA) is a global corporate education company with a unique vision - to transform accounting literacy in the world and have it be a basic language skill rather than a niche expert topic.

Two years ago, ACA realized its rapid success and growth demanded an enterprise management system that could manage its workshops, clients, trainers, partners and thousands of participants. It needed to support tens of thousands of records and it needed to be accessible from anywhere in the world.

They looked at different alternatives for their system, but were frustrated with their exorbitant price tags and lack of flexibility. The only alternative they saw was to build it themselves, but they also knew it would "eat up their lives". And then they met Eruptik.

"When I first saw the Eruptik system, I said,"No way, this is going to cost 100's of thousands of dollars." I couldn't believe it when they told me it would cost orders of magnitude less! And when I saw the powerful simplicity and flexibility of the system, I was sold - what a huge bang for the buck!"

Within weeks, the system was built. Today, ACA and Eruptik have evolved the system to make it not only accessible to its staff and partners, but to every client and participant through its web site. Now customers can register and pay for workshops, share expectations before a course, provide post workshop feedback and even print certificates. ACA can also immediately change the content on their website using Eruptik's built in web content management capabilities.
